STATE.

Justice of the Supreme Court, ROBERT VON MOSCHIZSKER, of Philadelphia, Auditor General, A. E. SISSON, of Erie, State Treasurer, JEREMIAH A. STOBBER, of Lancaster.

COUNTY.

Associate Judge, SAMUEL AUL, Jenks Twp. District Attorney, M. A. CARRINGER, Tionesta Boro. Coroner,

By the death of Mrs. Katherine Miller, of typhoid fever at a hospital in Pittsburgh Monday, an echo of the notorious Biddle jail delivery is given. She was Mrs. Kate Soffel, and served two years in the penitentiary for her connection with the escape of Jack and Edward Biddle, murderers, from the county jail in Pittsburgh, and who were killed while resisting capture in Butler county, Mrs. Soffel adopted the name of Miller after her husband secured a divorce. She was 42 years old.

That well-known suffragist Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, while she hopes she gives due credit to the noble being, Man, does not, on the other hand, overestimate the lords of creation. She was speaking recently of another prominent woman who is somewhat lukewarm in the suffrage cause. "The trouble with Mrs. Blank," said Mrs. Catt, "is that she fairly worships her husband. She thinks that he is absolutely perfect. Why, the woman actually believes that the parrot taught him to swear." -Woman's Home Companion for September.

ADOPTING a platform one clause of which advocates woman suffrage, and going on record as being in favor of the annihilation of the liquor traffic and the arbitration of disputes between capital and labor, the Prohibition state convention adjourned at Pittsburgh Friday, after nominating the following candidates for State offices: State Treasurer, Dr. Frank Fish, of Clayville, Washington county; Auditor General, C. W. Smith, Delaware county; Justice of the Supreme Court, Harold B. Robinson, of Uniontown. Burton B. Rockwood, of Philadelphia, was elected State Chairman at a meeting of the State Central Committee.

ACCORDING to a decision handed down by Judge Henderson of the Pennsylvania Superior Court at Pittsburgh, says an exchange, marriages between second cousins are illegal and may be dissolved, but after the death of either of the contracting parties the marriage shall not be questioned. Thousands of Pennsylvania marriages are affected. The case was an appeal from the decision of Judge W. F. Taylor, of the common pleas court of Washington county by Florence McClain who was married to her cousin Jesse McClain, at Greensburg, in the winter of 1908, and later sued for a divorce, alleging that the cousin had sworn falsely to the marriage license clerk.

AMONG the laws passed by the last Pennsylvania legislature is one which forbids the offering for sale or trade by the owner of any horse which cannot be regularly used and worked without violating the usual laws against cruelty to animals by reason of lameness, sickness, debility or unsoundness, and also provides that no such disabled horses shall be ridden or driven on any public highway in the state except on the way to a proper place for treatment or humane keeping or killing. Severe penalty is provided for violations of the law, and any constable, policeman or agent of any society for the prevention of cruelty to animals may arrest, with or without a warrant, any offender of the law.

AFTER having served continually since 1881 either in the regular United States army or the Pennsylvania National Guards and having participated actively in the Civil War and the Spanish-American War, General John A. Wiley retired last week from the highest military appointment in the power of the state, Major General of the National Guards of Pennsylvania. There have been but few cases in the military history of the country parallel. Entering the army in the spring of '61 as a private, General Wiley served the Union faithfully through the great strife, finding himself a corporal at the termination of the war. From thence on he advanced step by step until this week, when he retires from the Major Generalship.

UNDER the caption "Does Bread-Hunger Threaten the World?" W. C. Tiffany, in the American Review of Reviews for September, says: "In view of an estimated yield this year of 235,000,000 bushels of wheat, or 60,000,000 bushels more than in 1908, in the Dakotas and Minnesota, of a substantial increase in the yield of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta, the Pacific Northwest, and South Russia, and in view of a much heavier yield in the Central and Southwestern States than seemed possible a few months ago, the world's stocks of wheat seem in a fair way to be a measure replenished this year and the increasing consumption supplied, in spite of short crops in some of the important producing countries. Already the price of wheat has fallen greatly from the recent high-water mark; and while the days of cheap wheat may not return, there can be no question that the production this year will be adequate to supply the world's demand for flour. When we consider that the virgin land available for wheat growing far exceeds the areas now under crop, the uncounted acres amenable to dry farming, the enormous increase in yield which can be added through rotation of crops and other improved methods of farming and the potentiality of better seed, we need have no fear, although consumption may at times press hard on production, that bread-hunger will for any considerable period threaten the world for generations to come."

VALUE OF THE ORGANIZATION.

The need and value of organization in the political field was admirably set forth by David H. Lane, the veteran Republican leader of Tionesta, Pa., in his speech of acceptance on the occasion of his being re-elected chairman of the city committee. He made it clear that political organizations are as valuable on account of the evils they avert as for the advantages they produce.

The science of politics is indispensable to a free and progressive people. The first duty imposed on the organization is to educate the people, to warm its faith, to direct its energies and to adapt its efforts to time and place and to modify them in compliance with the occurrences of the age, and, about all, that men should be taught an equal attachment and respect for the law, of which they are the common authors.

There are excellent patriotic citizens who confound the abuses of party with its benefits, and the idea of evil seems to be inseparable in their minds from that of political activity. While it is often-times difficult to induce political opponents of the great Republican organization of Pennsylvania to accept the truth, the purpose of that organization is ever to convince them of their error by action and achievement, and in that line of endeavor Senator Boies Penrose, the head of the organization, is a shining exemplar with a long list of successes to attest to the excellence of his work.

The organization represents absolute equality; all are admitted to its ranks. One can scarcely meet a single great political event that has not turned to the advantage of equality. Our splendid educational system has constructed a highway from the cabin to the university, has developed men who have discovered fresh truths, and every new idea is a germ of power placed within the reach of the people. And, finally, the deliberations and conclusions of the organization ever bear in mind that a sovereign power exists above all that may destroy or modify at its pleasure—that of the people.

It is conformity with these sound truths and principles that the Republican party of Pennsylvania has placed before the people of this Commonwealth as its candidates at the coming State election, such splendid, well-equipped men as Senator A. E. Sisson, of Erie, for Auditor General; J. A. Stober, of Lancaster, for State Treasurer, and Judge Robert von Moschizskor, of Philadelphia, for the Supreme Bench. They deserve and have the confidence of the people and their election is assured.

With a big winter wheat crop already garnered, a record-breaking spring wheat yield in the Northwest and provinces practically assured, a corn production, which, barring early frosts, promises to run close to the three billion bushel mark, the agricultural States are furnishing, according to financiers and many factors, the basis for a new and long lease on prosperity. Acknowledgment by railroad managements that prosperity is here and faith that it will grow steadily, is evidenced in the amount of railroad buying in the steel market.

That an extra session of Congress in the fall of 1910 to consider the legislation to be recommended by the monetary commission will be avoided if possible, was decided at a conference of President Taft with Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the Treasury, held at Beverly recently. While no determination of the general character of the report of the commission is yet hazarded by Senator Aldrich, who is its chairman, it is known that he told the President of the strong tendency in the commission toward the substitution of a central bank of issue for the present monetary system. Senator Aldrich has since then sailed for Europe to make important investigations of foreign systems, bearing upon the question of changing that of the United States. Upon his report to be made to the commission on his return, about November 1, will be based the plan it will then outline for future work.

Fish Wardens Busy.

State Fish Wardens J. P. Alberts and M. F. Alberts of Harrisburg, were in the city Thursday. They have been giving special attention to the Allegheny river, having patrolled it from the state line near Corydon to Kittanning. They are particularly determined to get the pirates who are spearing game fish and intend to stick to the job until this practice is broken up. They have some exciting incidents to relate. At Foxburg they arrested A. W. Boyd and W. E. Martin, who were fined $50 and costs each by Justice of the Peace A. W. Smiley. Afterwards they destroyed the boats of these men by burning, finding 16 gallons of oil in one of them made a pretty blaze.

Just below Trunkville the Messrs. Alberts blew up a boat, occupied by several giggers, by shooting through the gasoline tank, after the pirates had refused to capitulate. The men took to the water and escaped in the darkness. The wardens say they have found numbers of large game fish, dead, along the river, salmon and bass up to 23 inches and a muscalonge weighing 26 pounds, that have been killed by the giggers. This sort of thing will be stopped or the wardens will know the reason why, they say, and they look like men who are ready upon occasion to fight, row or run a foot race to get a criminal. -Derrick.

Granulated Sore Eyes Cured.

There was a big frost on the hills around here one morning last week, which froze Ves Fitzgerald's buckwheat and sweet corn.

All that has been said about the cooking of eggs could be said of meat. Overheating beef tea or beef juice are like the leathery white of egg. They should be heated over water. The most appetizing way of serving raw beef is in sandwiches. The round of beef is good for this. Use bread at least a day old, cut it in thin even slices and remove the crust. Scrape the raw meat and spread on the bread like butter. Put the sandwich together, and place in a hot oven long enough to brown the bread, but not cook the meat, which will be a pale pink. Spread a very little butter on the toast and serve at once. Oysters call for the same delicate cooking, and they should be served as soon as the gills begin to ruffle. An invalid often appreciates an oyster put on a square of toast and allowed to stay in the oven till the gills curl, and then served with a little butter, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Sweetbreads call for the most delicate cooking at low temperature. -Ladies' World for September.

An Ideal Community.

Endeavor, Forest county, founded by Congressman N. P. Wheeler, and maintained by his large lumbering interests, stands in a class unique by itself, according to the recital of its advantages by a resident of the place who is spending a few days with Oil City friends, says the Derrick. There is no "leisure class" either among the rich or the very poor. The unspoken, but rigidly enforced rule of the place is "work or move on." The results are that there are no loafers, no bums, no dead beats. The little town is a veritable hive of industry and there are no drones. Practically every male capable of performing manual or skilled labor has employment in the saw mills or industries directly connected with them. There are residents of the place who have been working for this company for the past 45 years. There are no policemen and the office of constable is so much of a sinecure that it is combined with that of tax collector. Honesty and willingness to work are the characteristics of the population of this attractive little settlement where the law under which all come together is the law of the "Golden Rule."

James Welsh was a business visitor in Warren last Thursday.
